MEMORIAL FAIR.

JUDGE R. T. W. DUKE, PAST GRAND MASTER OF MASONS, MAKES A PLEAS- ING ADDRESS.

He stood amid the gay young throng, And took them as if by storm; His speech was excellent and long, Just like his manly form.

As the clock in the city hall rang out on the crisp atmosphere the hour of 8 last evening, just at that moment the lights in Armory Hall—a building transformed from a structure of bricks and mortar, uninviting, to say the least, into a garden of roses, beautiful and presided over by man's helpmate—were lowered and on the steps of that magnificent reproduction of Mount Vernon mansion occurred the first scene in the first act of the memorial fair given under the auspices of Alexandria-Washington Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

The crowds had gathered to pay homage to the distinguished Virginian, the one who was to start the wheels of the mid-winter entertainment in motion. Worshipful Master J. Edward Quinn in a brief but well-timed address introduced to a large assembly Past Grand Master R. T. W. Duke, of Charlottesville, who had been delegated by Grand Master Joseph W. Eggleston to represent him on this occasion. It is needless to say that perfect quiet reigned as Virginia's gifted son, with a voice as clear as were the skies of last night and a tone sweet and bright as were the moonlit heavens, launched forth in congratulation of the magnificent work of the committee on decoration. He spoke in highest terms of the laudable enterprise and predicted for each and every branch of the undertaking unbounded success. As is the custom of all true Virginians, he closed by paying a lovely tribute to the gems of creation—the ladies—who, he said, never appeared more charming to human gaze than when they looked into his face. At the close of his address, Judge Duke received a memento of the occasion in the shape of a small square, made of wood, mounted on silver, which had formerly been a part of the hour glass used in Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons when George Washington was its master. The presentation speech was made by Past Grand Master K. Kemper and the present was received by Judge Duke in his usual happy manner. At the conclusion of this part of the programme the ladies began to get busy and under a fine display of electric lights, the beauty of which was enhanced by the charming dress of the fair sex, promenade the hall, and with that expression "If you have dimes or dollars prepare to bid them up now," proceeded to gather in the coin of the realm. It is scarcely necessary to expatiate upon what this fair will be. The men and the good women who have generously entered heartily into the project are too well known to permit anything that does not excel. One of the many motives of the Masons is to "get and give your money's worth." One of the features not previously mentioned is the three- quenching fountain. The fair features having this booth in charge have received a consignment of the lith water direct from the very spring itself, and will dispense its "narrow-dispelling draughts in liberal quantities. It is useless to attempt further description; something must be left to the imagination. The flower stand is also one of beauty and the pleasant smiles so bewitchingly bestowed by the queens of creation who control it will make one buy a bouquet no matter what antipathy he has to wearing one. Within the mansion of Mount Vernon the chair in which George Washington sat when he presided over Alexandria Lodge, and other relics arranged to represent the lodge room are on exhibition.

Among the novel features of the fair is a continuous performance of moving pictures, an entrance having been made to a portion of the Elks' Home, adjoining, for this purpose. Last night Old Dominion Commandery, Knights Templar, attended in uniform. Saturday night will be Striner's night. Some inconvenience was caused between 9 and 10 o'clock by the electric lights going out, but the trouble has been remedied and tonight they will shine as bright as the dimes and dollars which you will willingly pass into the hands of the ladies.

Hereafter there will be dancing every evening during the remainder of the fair. The following explains itself: GRAND LODGE, F. & A. A. M., DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, Office of the Grand Secretary, Washington, January 30, 1909. To all Masonic bodies of the District of Columbia:

The grand master has accepted for the Masonic fraternity of the District of Columbia an invitation from Alexandria-Washington Lodge, No. 22, of Alexandria, Va., to attend a fair which will be held at Armory Hall, Alexandria, February 1 to 12, 1909. As the object of the fair is to secure funds for the erection of a memorial to the illustrious Brother George Washington, who was the first worshipful master of Alexandria-Washington Lodge, the grand master takes pleasure in bespeaking for it the liberal patronage of the brethren of this district. The grand master and the officers of the grand lodge will visit the fair on the evening of Saturday, February 6, which has been set apart for the fraternity of the District of Columbia, and he extends to all brethren a cordial invitation to accompany him. They will assemble at the Washington and Alexandria train, 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northward, and take the special train leaving at 7:30 p. m. Transportation free. Admission to fair 10 cents.

By order of the Grand Master, A. W. JOHNSON, Secretary. Keep your feet dry. "Try a pair of the celebrated" Walk Over Shoes. J. A. Marshall & Bro., 422 King Street.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, held its regular meeting last night. A committee consisting of P. F. Gorman, Levi Hurdle and O. S. Taylor was appointed to prepare resolutions on the death of their late comrade, Oscar H. Tubman. The committee appointed at a previous meeting to prepare resolutions of respect on the death of Comrade Kenney Johns made their report, which was ordered to be spread on the minutes of the camp. The camp was the recipient from Capt. Wm. M. Myers, of the Richmond Howitzers, of a handsomely bound and illustrated copy of the book describing the march of the Howitzers from Richmond to Jamestown and return, for which thanks were tendered. Reminiscences which have become quite a feature at the meetings of the camp were indulged in.

CAPTAIN DAVIS RESIGNS.

Captain J. V. Davis has resigned his position as superintendent of the National cemetery at Arlington. He is at present residing at New Brighton, Pa. Captain Davis was for many years the superintendent of the National cemetery at Alexandria, and his transference to the Arlington cemetery was regretted by every member of the community, as he was personally acquainted with the mass of Alexandrians, with whom he was justly popular and a welcome guest wherever he went. His many friends and acquaintances sincerely wish him success wherever he may be and in any vocation he may follow.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The revival meetings now in progress in the Free Methodist Church, on South Lee street, continue to grow in interest. Rev. F. F. Shoup, the singing evangelist, with his wife, are still assisting Rev. John Cavanaugh. Four persons went to the altar last night. Large congregations attend the meetings. The revival services which are being conducted in the Village Chapel, on Gibson street, by Rev. C. D. Balla, pastor of the M. E. Church South, are well-attended and much interest is being shown by all who attend.

OPERA HOUSE.

Those who went to the Opera House last night, and they numbered into the thousands, were not disappointed as the management have secured the quintessence of the professional talent in the actors and actresses who perform various stunts in vaudeville. It is one of the best shows seen in this city and well worth double the money. One would have thought with the other attractions last night the audience would have been small, but such was not the case, as it was larger than the previous Monday. Entire change of vaudeville and pictures tonight.

IDENTIFIED THE HORSE.

Mr. George W. Hunt, who lives on the Pamunkey, twelve miles below Richmond, came to this city today and identified the horse found in possession of Frank Johnson as his property, not withholding an attempt had been made to dye the equine green. The horse was turned over to Mr. Hunt. The latter says the horse is worth $250. Johnson was arrested a few days ago with about fifteen hundred pounds of meat and other articles in his possession which, it is a legend, had been stolen at Annandale and Bully's cross roads.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. Arthur King had a narrow escape from serious injury at the intersection of Cameron and Henry streets yesterday morning. An electric train had stopped while Mr. King had hold of the railing on the step. The sudden jerk of the train threw him from his feet, but he held on to the railing and was dragged to the west side of Henry street, where he fell. He was fortunately far enough away to escape the wheels of the cars.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.] The following cases were disposed of this morning: William Whalen, charged with assaulting Davis Fowell, was fined $15. James Handlin and Robert Jackson, charged with vagrancy, were dismissed upon promising to leave the city. Henry Smith, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, was dismissed.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE. A meeting of the board of the Civic Improvement League of Alexandria was held last night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, the president, Mr. Edw. Reed Leebrauer, presiding. There was a full attendance of members. The business before the board was the adoption of the constitution and by-laws. Plans for the work of the organization were also discussed.

FUN GALORE.

The amusement loving public will be treated to something rare in comedy at the Elks' motion picture house tonight. "Too Much Snuff," one of the pictures, is very funny, as is the one entitled "Don't Fool Your Wife." Other good pictures will be shown, Dan Kellie, the celebrated vocalist, will be present and sing a number of songs.

DELAYED STEAMER.

The steamer Northumberland, plying between Washington, Alexandria and Baltimore, which left Baltimore on Saturday at 5 p. m. for this port, and should have arrived here Sunday morning, did not arrive until yesterday at 5 p. m. A strong northeast wind and the low water delayed the steamer.

COW BOYS.

The Cow Boys organization held its first meeting last night with a membership of thirty. The following officers were elected: Ferdinand DeVaughn, president and treasurer; Oas. Eastwile, secretary; Neal Cary, vice president, and Aubrey Padgett, property manager.

The weather was clear and cold last night. The northwesterly wind which set in last week had subsided. The mercury in the thermometer this morning stood at 18°.

For That Terrible Itching.

Eczema, tetter and salt rheum keep their victims in perpetual torment. The application of Chamberlain's Salve will instantly allay this itching, and many cases have been cured by its use. For sale by W. F. Creighton & Co., and Richard Gibson.

Suitable Footwear for this season can be had at John A. Marshall & Bro's, 422 King street.

WEDDING.

St. Paul's Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Saturday evening at seven o'clock, when Miss Frances Spencer Carr became the bride of Mr. Wayne Thompson Elman. The decorations were in exquisite taste; the aisle and the steps of the church were covered with white, and the chancel filled with a profusion of ferns and palms. The altar was lighted by numerous candles which shone softly on the scene. The church surplus choir entered first and the wedding party followed, in the order named: Joseph F. Drummond, of Norfolk; Dr. Samuel W. Hobson, William L. Will, Harold F. Norton and Edwin S. Alexander, the ushers; Miss Emily Nash Hedges, of Norfolk; Miss Mary Patton Searns and Miss Lucile English Ayler, the maids of honor; Mrs. Gardner Lloyd Bothe, of Alexandria, and Mrs. Joseph Foster Drummond, of Norfolk, matrons of honor. Little Mitty Lou Newman, the ring bearer, preceded the bride, who entered with her brother-in-law, Mr. Gardner Lloyd Bothe, of Alexandria. Mr. Cecil W. Weaver, of Wilmington, Del., was best man, and entered with the groom. The bride's gown was of white satin trimmed with real point applique, and her veil of tulle was caught with orange blossoms. She wore pearls, which had been received from her mother, Mrs. Joseph Carr, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The matrons of honor wore empire gowns of yellow satin and carried bouquets of green. The bridesmaids wore gowns of cream messaline trimmed with gold, and carried jonquils, and the little ring bearer was in pure white, and carried a tiny golden basket in her hand. An assemblage of friends and acquaintances that taxed the seating capacity of the church witnessed the beautiful ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. B. Allen, rector of the church. After the ceremony the relatives, the bride party and out of town guests were given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Newman. Later the bride and groom left on the Richmond boat for a wedding journey through the south. [Newport News Press.]
